be the wisest living statesman of Europe, says of the Spanish war : "Its result cannot be wholesome, either to will be forced to adopt an inter-meddling policy, leading to unavoidable frictions. They have abandoned their traditional peace policy, and, in order to maintain their position, they must become a military and a raval poweran expensive luxury which their gecgraphic position rendered unnecessary. America's change of front means retrogression in the high sense of civilization. This is the main regrettable fact about this war." Now, it is not agreeable to be talked about in this way by foreigners, no matter now distinguished or friendly they may be; but, for all that, few intelligent citizens of this country, who have any interest in its notable figures of modern civil states welfare, deny the truth of what the wise old German ex-chancellor says.

negroes in Baltimore has become unbearable. The Sun of that city, in its issue of yesterday, protests against it, and says the people there "cannot afford to permit it any longer, and are deter mined that the municipal government shall continue no longer in the control of those who are bringing both danger and disgrace upon it." And yet the Sun did all it could to put the government of Baltimore into the hands of the republicans by whom it is now controlled. Of the delinquencies of the republican government of Baltimore, the Sun, for its own sake, should have nothing to say.

THAT THE negroes of Virginia are at last becoming tired of the tricks that have been played upon them by their white republican allies, is made plain by the fact that those of Elizabeth City, in which they have a large majority, have just nominated a county ticket composed entirely of members of their own race, the name of no white man being on it. Judging from the experience of the past, however, it is more than probable that between now and next Thursday, election day, they will again subject themselves to the malign republican influence that has always controlled them.

EPISCOPAL COUNCIL.

FIRST DAY'S PROCEEDINGS. WINCHESTER, May 18.

The 103rd Annual Council of the o'clock this morning the great states-Episcopal Diocese of Virginia com- man breathed his last, surrounded by menced its session at ten o'clock this the members of his family. The end morning in Christ Church. It opened was peaceful and majestic, Mr. Gladwith the service for holy communion read and administered by Bishop Whittle and Coadjutor Bishop Gibson. The council sermon, which was an able and time, but almost beyond the power of interesting one, was preached by the Rev. Berryman Green, of Christ Church, Alexandria, from the first epistle of St. John, chapter 3, verse 5: "Ye know that he was manifested to take away our sins.

The council met for business at five minutes before twelve o'clock with Bishop Whittle in the chair. The roll of clerical and lav delegates was called by the secretary, Rev. Everard Meade. The number of the clergy present was 17, of the laity 34. The usual committee for approving the credentials of lay delegates was appointed.

A resolution moved by the Rev. G. W. Nelson was unanimously adopted by a rising vote of the council congratulating Bishop Whittle upon the completion of the thirtieth year of his useful and faithful episcopate on the 30th of April las; also thanking God for the restoration of the Bishop's eyesight and praying that he may yet be spared for years to the diocese to which he is united by the strongest ties of mutual love and affection.

The hours for the business sessions of the council and services were announced and Christ Church, Oxford, of which by the rector, the Rev. N. P. Dame. The regular council committees were then appointed by the Bishop, as follows

Mason, of Richmond, offered a resolution with reference to petitioning the legislature to make a change in the charter of the Seminary so that trustees may be elected by the councils of the dioceses within the States of Virginia and West Virginia. Considerable discussion took place on this resolution until the hour for adjournment when the question was carried over to the next day.

Early morning services are appointed for each day. At this morning's service held at half past seven, an earnest address was made by Coadjutor Bishop Gibson. There is a good attendance of clerical and lay delegates at this council. Among the prominent visiting clergy we notice the Rev. Dr. W. M. Dame, of Baltimore, and the Rev. Henry Thomas, of Martinsburg, West Virginia.

A devotional meeting was held in the church at 4 o'clock this evening led by the Rev. Dr. McGill, of Falls Church.

The annual meeting for Diocesan Missions was held in Christ Church at eight o'clock to-night. The annual repert was made by the secretary, Rev. Preston Nash, and addresses were delivered by the Revs. J. Y. Downman. E. B. Burwell, and J. D. LaMothe.

As was anticipated in the dispatch in the Gazette yesterday, the sands of Mr. Gladstone's life were nearly run. At 5 well knew that his hour had come and plainly the thought brought him sweet content. He was conscious most of the speech or motion. His mind was still active and versatile. He surprised the watchers about noon yesterday by murmuring a prayer in the French language, with which he was perfectly familiar but seldom used in the ordinary affairs of life. The pain, which though intermittent, was most cruelly severe for nearly nine months gradually subsided for three or four weeks past. This was due, not so much to the use of mor-phine, which had been employed more or less since January, as to the fact that the nerves themselves mercifully ex-hausted their capacity for suffering. Mr. Gladstone's amazing vitality for one of such advanced age served both to prolong and intensify the agony which his terrible malady always inflicts. The disease was not only malignant, but involved tuberculosis of the bone, which is one of the most painful afflictions. The late Right Hon. William Ewart

Gladstone, M. P., P. C., is the fourth son of the late Sir John Gladstone, Bart., of Fasque, county Kincardino, N. B., a well known merchant of Liverpool, and was born there, December 29, 1809. He was educated at Eton he was nominated a student in 1829, and graduated, taking a double first class, in Michaelmas term, in 1831. was elected to Parliament in the conservative interest in 1832. He had previously intended fitting himself for the law, but relinquished the idea after entering Parliament. He soon at tracted attention, and later was appointed to several important government trusts. During his life he was author of a number of books, some of a classic nature. He was a close Bible student. Mr. Gladstone became leader of the House of Commons at the death of Lord Palmerston, in 1866, and for a quarter of a century he was the most prominent man in England, becoming Prime Minister eventually. He had, nowever, his ups and dows, as all po-litical leaders do, but both friends and foes looked upon him as one of the greatest men of the age. His efforts to procure home rule for Ireland created the greatest interest at the time. The bill, it will be remembered, was rejected by a majority of thirty. Mr. Glad-stone appealed to the country, but received an overwhelming negative. Mr. Gladstone resigned in 1886 and Lord Salisbury became Prime Minister. In 1892 Mr. Gladstone was returned to Parliament and again became Premier. Later he made another unsuccessful attempt to get an Irish home rule bill through the House of Lords. He retired from public life about four years ago.
